

First Grade News

December 15, 2008

Religion: Lessons again this week center on the birth of our Savior.

Spelling: We will begin learning about the sounds of ch, wh, nk and words involving these sounds: chin, when, wink, chick, sink, think.

English: Our lessons this week continue to talk about the use of proper nouns in sentences.

Reading: We are going to be doing some fun activities during our reading time this week.

Math: We will be having tests in our math lessons this week.

Social Studies: We will be learning about how Christmas is celebrated in Mexico and about the holiday of Hanukkah.

Science: Our lesson this week is all about where to find fresh water on earth.

FYI: Our Christmas party will be the morning of December 19th. Please send the gift for the child your child chose to be an angel for on that day. (Does that make sense?)

Don't forget! Tuesday night is our Christmas program. The children should meet in our classroom at 6:15. Our program begins at 6:30 with a covered dish dinner following. Looking forward to seeing all of you there!

Christmas break begins this coming Friday afternoon. The children will be dismissed at 11:40. Please see Mrs. Lovejoy if you need childcare that afternoon. School resumes January 5th.

May you and your families have a blessed Christmas!